

Advices and Tips

1. Cow skins and carpets should be vacuumed or beaten once and awhile.
When vacuuming please follow the hair to minimize unnecessary tearing.
2. Natural Cow skin can under normal circumstances be cleaned with a piece of cloth dipped in clean, lukewarm water.
3. After awhile you can have stains, which will not come off with clean water.
On the natural colored Cow skins and carpets we recommend a scour product to clean and impregnate.
4. Dyed skin is to be carefully cleaned with a piece of cloth dipped in clean, lukewarm water.
The scour product should not be used to clean dyed skins or carpets.
5. Dyed Cow skin is not to be subjugated to direct sunlight, hence the colors will fade.
6. It is generally a good idea to turn/rotate cow skins on the floor once and awhile, to ensure that they wear out evenly.
7. If parts of the skin are curling, you can moisturize those areas; and then roll the skin in the opposite direction and let it dry.
8. Remember that all Cow skins and carpets are unique in the coloring, and the natural colors will always fit with similar natural colors in your home environment such as: Tree, Granite, Wool, Leather etc.
